Dear Sir or Madam,

I am writing in relation to [briefly describe the process or request – e.g. the GOV.UK One Login verification / linking of my DWP record / new identity check, etc.].

Before proceeding further, please confirm the specific lawful basis you are relying on for this processing (for example: legitimate interests, public task, consent, contract, or legal obligation).

I am exercising my Right to Object under Article 21 of the UK GDPR to any processing of my personal data that relies on legitimate interests or public task (where the right applies).

I request that you pause this processing while you review my objection and provide a full response.

If you believe you have compelling legitimate grounds that override my rights, or if a different lawful basis applies, please explain this clearly in writing, including:

- ☐ the exact lawful basis relied upon,
- ☐ why this level of data or verification is necessary, and
- ☐ why less intrusive alternatives are not being used.

This notice is made calmly and in good faith to support lawful transparency and informed decision-making.

Yours faithfully,

Signed: _____
